DC Access Partners with Peter and Claudia Bell to provide Wireless Internet to X-unit apartment building on Capitol Hill

Washington, DC – In cooperation with property owners Peter and Claudia Bell, DC Access is now providing Wireless Internet to a 22-unit apartment building located at 719 D St NE.

Through similar partnerships with several other local real estate companies, including Evolve LLC and Yarmouth Management, DC Access is establishing a growing portfolio of multi-tenant properties on Capitol Hill.

“Our WiFi services are a great fit for multi-tenant buildings of any size, whether it’s six units of 60,” says Martha Huizenga, partner at DC Access. “We’re thrilled that Peter and Claudia chose DC Access to provide local, affordable Wireless Internet for their tenants.”

ABOUT DC ACCESS LLC

Founded in 1999, DC Access is Washington’s DC first and only wireless Internet service provider (WISP). The company also offers dial-up access and web hosting. DC Access' customers receive the benefits of high-speed broadband without having to order DSL or cable from a large provider. DC Access has earned a reputation for offering reliable, affordable and personal service to its customers. DC Access has been profitable from the first day of operation. The DC Access strategy has always been consistent and steady growth. DC Access is privately held and headquartered on Capitol Hill in Washington, DC.
